Headline:
Heavy rain at times over the weekend, improving next week.

Today:
After a mostly dry start with some brightness further east, cloud will thicken as rain moves in from the west. This turning heavy at times through the afternoon, with a risk of thunder mainly in western areas. Light winds. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
Heavy perhaps thundery showery rain will slowly move away eastwards through the evening, although lingering in northeastern areas overnight. Staying cloudy for all. Light winds. Minimum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Sunday:
Sunday will be mostly cloudy. Some scattered showers developing, perhaps with the odd heavy shower in the afternoon. Becoming breezy on eastern coasts. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Generally drier and brighter from Monday, with winds easing, although the odd shower possible Monday morning. There will be warm sunny spells at times.
